

Senior Living & LTC Industry Practice

Workforce safety education video library

Marsh's Senior Living & LTC Industry Practice's education and training videos are tailored to the industry and designed to reinforce a culture of safety within a senior living and long-term care operator's organization.

These videos were developed by Marsh's certified safety professionals, risk professionals, and registered nurses who consult with clients on loss control and clinical risk management. Videos were filmed within senior living communities to support the employees' ability to relate the information to their work environment. The videos are concise and contain information that employers can review routinely with employees to support their organization's culture of safety.

The videos are designed to be a brief and informative safety and risk management training resource that can be integrated into your current safety training program.

Our current library topics include:

Ergonomics

- Safe motion dynamics — ergonomics principles
- Stop & think ergonomics
- Office ergonomics

Safe resident mobility assistance

- Safe resident mobility assistance intro
- One caregiver manual transfer
- Two caregiver manual transfer
- Stand aid device transfer
- Sit to stand lift devices
- Full body lift

Resident safety
